The Exquisite Moorings 4800

Designed in collaboration between The Moorings, architects Simonis-Voogd and builders Robertson and Caine, the Moorings 4800 follows in the footsteps of the popular Moorings 4600, the best-selling Moorings model to-date. What sets the Moorings 4800 apart is, not only its space, but the introduction of a large forward cockpit with access to the saloon; the first ever on a Moorings yacht. This forward cockpit was made popular on the award-winning Leopard 44 (Boat of the Year 2012) and adds additional relaxation space to an already comfortable and spacious yacht.

The Moorings 4800 also features high quality construction and great performance. She is fully equipped with twin Yanmar 54 hp engines, solar panels, flat screen TV, and electric winch with foot switch for easy mainsail hoisting. This yacht is not only easy to sail, but is also fully equipped with a generator, air conditioning, fridge, freezer, electric toilets and more.

4800 Design

The raised steering station allows excellent visibility and could not be easier to handle, both at sea and in close confines. This yacht offers an abundance of outdoor living space. The aft cockpit features a large cockpit table with comfortable wrap-around seating plus fixed stools.

The forward cockpit, conceived by its designers, Robertson and Caine, allows complete access through the center of the yacht. Enjoy easy passage from the aft cockpit, through the saloon, into its forward cockpit and only a few steps to the deck and trampoline.

The aft cockpit, forward cockpit, and helm station are all covered by a hard bimini protecting the area from sun and elements. The main hard top allows easy access to the mast and boom. The deck layout of the Moorings 4800 surpasses other catamarans, with the set up being clear and uncluttered.

Navigating around this yacht is a breeze with its wide side decks finished with deck hatches and an extra wide aft swim platform. The boarding transoms are the optimum height to allow ease of transition in and out of your dinghy.

The interior of the Moorings 4800 is extremely spacious. The saloon and galley both feature cherry finishes with real wood trim, beautiful panoramic views from the large windows, and a lounging area that you and all of your guests can enjoy.

The Moorings 4800 lacks for nothing. A large galley with ample cabinet space and durable Corian counter tops provide the perfect amount of prep space for all of your culinary needs. A deep side by side sink, two drawer front opening fridge and freezer, and Force 10 gas stove with three stove tops, oven, and grill, make this the perfect place to prepare snacks or the most extensive meals.

The large accommodations in the Moorings 4800 leave little to be desired. The four spacious cabins, two located in each hull, are accompanied by ensuite heads. Each head features a separate shower and electric toilet. Also, both hulls feature wear resistant simulated Austrian Walnut flooring, plenty of storage and reading lights.
